HUNGARY LENDS NEW STRENGTH TO AXIS

U. S. MAY SEND 50 MORE SHIPS TO FIGHT AXIS

Destroyers For Britain And Planes For Greece Loom
As Real Possibility

PAYMENT UNDETERMINED

Washington Makes Clear That Aid To Berlin's Foes Is Only Starting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—More destroyers for Great Britain and planes for Greece became a distinct possibility today as the administration made it clear that this government's aid to nations fighting the Axis powers is only getting under way.

Washington sources say that Great Britain, through its ambassador to the United States, Lord Lothian, is already preparing an appeal for 50 additional overage destroyers to help stem the renewed German submarine warfare on Britain's merchant shipping.

The Greeks, now battling a vastly superior Italian air force with only a comparative handful of planes, have already transmitted an urgent request to the U. S. government for bombers and pursuit ships.

What Great Britain will offer in payment for the additional destroyers is not known. When this country released 50 overage destroyers to England last summer, air and naval base rights on British western hemisphere possessions were received in exchange.

Convoys Need Protection
Inadequacy of convoy protection is assigned as the reason for Britain's decision to seek further naval aid, according to advice in Washington. These reports hold that England's food supply is liable to become seriously menaced unless merchantmen carrying supplies to the British Isles can be convoyed through the danger zones, particularly off the western Irish coast.

The United States still has 75 overage destroyers in addition to those already transferred to the beleaguered British. All of the 75 are commissioned and are part of the U. S. destroyer fleet of 159 vessels.

Greeks Make Plea

The appeal from Greece for planes was disclosed yesterday by acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles. His statement that the request, which also included a plea for munitions, would receive "sympathetic consideration" was generally interpreted to mean that aid for Greece is practically certain.

The State Department has already ordered the various national defense agencies to make a study of the request from Greece with particular emphasis on the possibility of plane deliveries in the near future.

Solons See No Hope For Early Rest

Democrats Reject GOP Theory
Of Lack Of Confidence
In President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—Democratic leaders of congress today abandoned all hope of forcing adjournment before Christmas as the result of a crushing defeat suffered when the House rejected an adjournment resolution by a vote of 191 to 148.

Republicans heralded the outcome as a vote of "no confidence" in President Roosevelt's handling of foreign affairs. Democratic leaders emphatically rejected such an interpretation.

Sponsors of the Logan-Walter court review bill and the Smith bill to revise the Wagner Labor Act, pending in the Senate, clamored for action. Republican House Leader Martin, Mass., indicated a willingness for congress to assume the role of a "watch dog" during the international crisis.

The House vote admittedly established that a Republican-Democratic coalition to overthrow the administration on vital measures is still possible despite Mr. Roosevelt's tremendous victory in the recent election, and that threat faces the New Deal in the new congress.

While many Democrats insisted that they opposed adjournment simply because they thought congress should stay on the job while Mr. Roosevelt holds he cannot make more than a 12-hour journey from Washington, some privately admitted fear of the President's tremendous victory in the recent election, and that threat faces the New Deal in the new congress.

DECORATION FOR HOLIDAY OPENER MOVES RAPIDLY

Retail merchants and light company employees, Wednesday, continued to dress Circleville for the opening of the Christmas season Saturday, and prepared for the arrival of eighty-five decorative Christmas trees.

The trees will be in place by Saturday. Each tree will be decorated with strings of lights, and placed on both sides of Main and Court Streets in the downtown district.

The program will open Saturday at 1:30 p. m. with a parade. Six school bands will participate, Dan McClain, chairman of the parade committee has announced. They are Ashville High School, Walnut Township, Stoutsville, Pickaway Township, and the Circleville Junior and Senior bands.

The parade will form in front of the High School building, will move up Court Street to Franklin, east on Franklin to Pickaway, north on Pickaway to Main, west on Main to Court, north on Court to Pinckney, west on Pinckney to Scioto, south on Scioto to Main, east on Main to Court and south on Court to the High School.

Santa Claus and twenty costumed school pupils will be featured in the parade. Toy balloons and sticks of candy will be given to youngsters of the city and county who attend the parade.

NORTHERN JAPAN ROCKED BY TWO EARTH SHOCKS

TOKYO, Nov. 20—An earthquake rocked northern Japan early today.

The shocks, the first of which were recorded shortly after midnight, were felt over a wide area. First reports indicated that towns within a 400 mile zone between Tokyo and Hokkaido were affected.

The tremors in the Iwate and Miyagi districts were of sufficient intensity to cause residents to flee home to the safety of open fields. Whether any damage was caused could not be immediately determined.

C. I. O. SESSION SEETHING OVER BAN ON REDS

Lid Is Off, Tempers Crack
And Future Labor Course
Rests On Outcome

LEWIS REMAINS MASTER

Delegates In Harsh Frame Of Mind, But Do Not Intend Staging Walkout

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 20. — New strife broke over the turbulent C.I.O. convention today as delegates faced a dynamite packed battle on proposals to ban Communists, Nazis and Fascists from C.I.O. jobs.

The lid was off, frayed tempers cracked, and the future course of C.I.O. rested on the outcome.

Over it all, the figure of John L. Lewis towered like an angry father, alternately lambasting and defending his labor congress. He will retire from the presidency before this convention ends, but he was very much the boss today.

Face Bitter Issue

The convention turned to the bitter issue of Communism after tossing labor peace out the window at the thundering admonition of Lewis. Scrapping proposals for fresh overtures to the American Federation of Labor, the delegates adopted an officers' report recommendation to continue life of the inactive 1939 peace committee in status quo.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers, headed by C.I.O. Vice President Sidney Hillman, offered and backed the resolution on Communism. They entered the fight on its behalf smarting from the decisive licking Lewis gave Hillman followers on the issue of labor peace. The resolution for fresh C.I.O. overtures to A.F. of L. parleys was offered by Amalgamated, too.

Delegates Angry

Amalgamated delegates were in a harsh frame of mind, but members said they did not intend a walkout from the convention. At one time during the hot debate on peace Lewis invited any unions that felt like it to leave the C.I.O., but later declared he did not seek

DIES POINTS TO SOCIETY WOMAN AS GERMAN SPY

CHICAGO, Nov. 20—In the wake of a two-day secret hearing conducted in the city by Rep. Martin Dies, chairman of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities, speculation in Chicago today centered on the identity of a prominent society woman named only as "Mrs. Blank," and described by Dies as a Nazi spy.

"Mrs. Blank," said Dies, "took an important part in harboring and entertaining foreign agents." Testimony given him, the Texas congressman added, showed also that the woman "was sympathetic to the German cause."

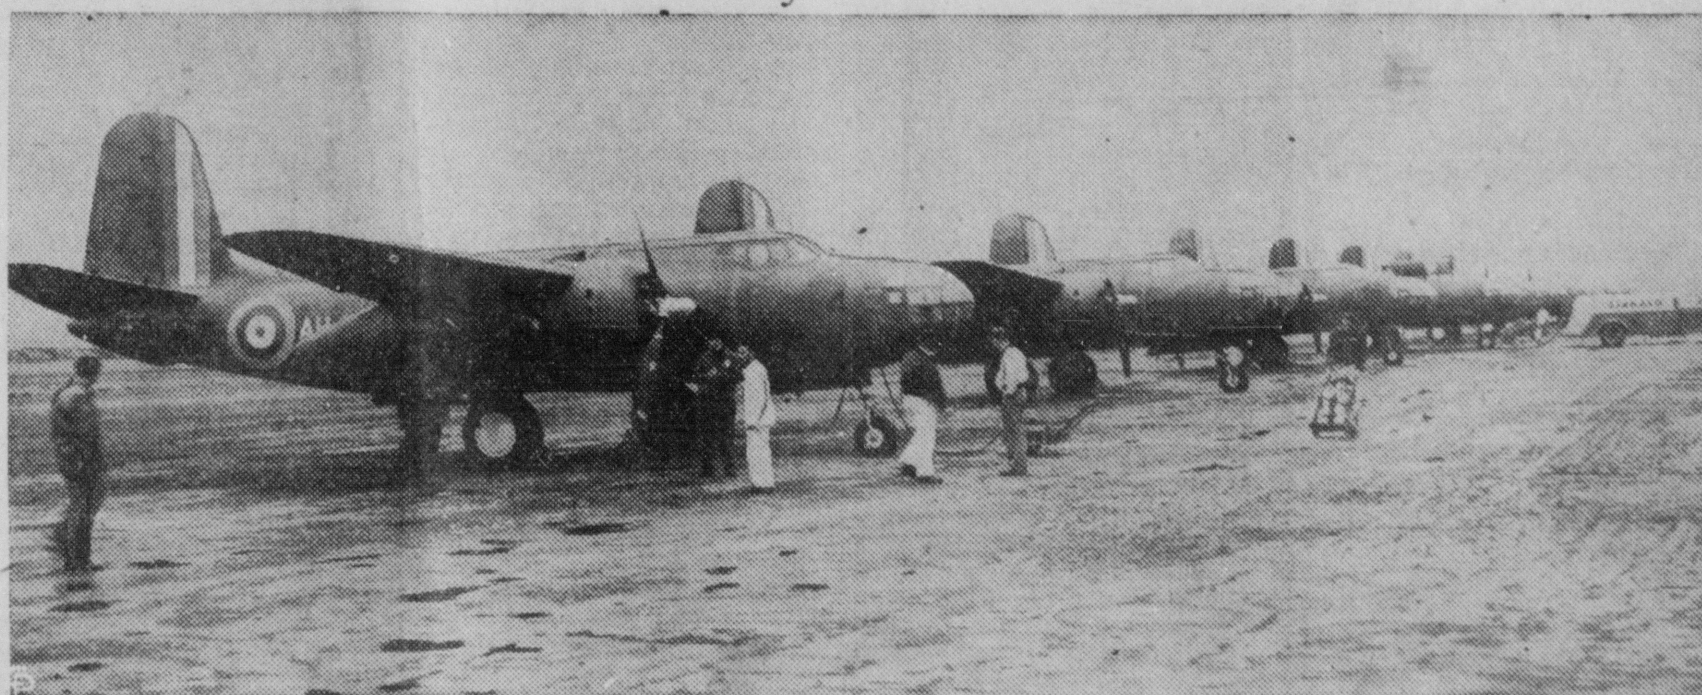

Today Dies was to continue his investigations in Detroit, but he planned to resume the Chicago inquiry on December 2. Chicago, he declared before his departure, is a key city in the nationwide operations of alleged German and Italian espionage organizations directed by consular officials of the axis powers.

STOCK LEADERS DROOP UNDER STRONG PRESSURE

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 — The stock market put in a reactionary performance today. Leaders were under pressure from the start and suffered losses running to 2 points by midday. Some support appeared but there was no rallying power of any consequence. Trading was moderately active.

Green Sees No Hope Of Labor
Peace And Blasts Lewis
As A Dictator

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20—The doors of the American Federation of Labor were flung open today to welcome back any revolting CIO unions but even the most optimistic of A. F. of L. officials conceded that all hopes of peace have now been blasted.

Reacting to the speech of John L. Lewis, the CIO chief, denouncing any peace overtures at this time, William Green, A. F. of L. president, asserted that Lewis has now revealed himself as a "real dictator," then added:

"In interpreting the address of Mr. Lewis as an invitation to right wing CIO unions—who favor settlement of differences—to get out of the CIO."

"If those unions respond to the invitation to leave the CIO they will find the door of the house of the A. F. of L. open to receive them if they decide to come back home."

Green would not say that Lewis' thunderous assault marks the final end of peace attempts, but the feeling was there nevertheless. And this feeling, voicing the attitude of virtually all of A. F. of L. delegates was expressed by Matthew Wolf, first vice president of the A. F. of L., and chairman of the powerful resolutions committee. Wolf said:

"We've never had much hope anyway, but this ends all hope of peace now."

PROBERS FIND NO SABOTAGE IN CHEMICAL BLAST

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20—Sabotage today was discounted as a cause of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corporation's two recent Pennsylvania explosions at Bridgeville and New Castle in a statement from H. L. Derby, president of the concern.

In both the Bridgeville chemical blast which injured two men last Sunday and the New Castle dynamite explosion which killed three workmen on November 12, Derby said, investigation indicated accidental causes. Of the Bridgeville blast, he said:

"Failure of a recently repaired internal part of the converter involved . . . permitted unusual chemical reaction within the apparatus and resulted in an explosion. There was no sabotage."

He reduced estimate of the damage from $250,000 to about $100,000.

THESE new type Douglas DB-7A bombers are shown lined up at the municipal airport in Santa Monica, Cal., before their flight to New York where they were to be turned over to British representatives. Great Britain has thousands of planes on order in the United States.

Blasted British City Counts Dead And Defies Nazis

An English Midlands City, Nov. 20—This world famous city, birthplace of statesmen and hub of industry, pulled itself out of air raid wreckage today and went back to the task of supplying the British army and air force with the sinews of war.

(Editor's Note: According to German communications, the city is Birmingham, home of the late former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.)

There is no denying the heavy damage done when German raiders came over during the night in wave after wave, dropping thousands of incendiary and high explosive bombs.

Casualties are high.

But so is the city's indomitable spirit.

Residents of this well-known municipality in the heart of the English midlands read newspaper reports informing them that last night's attack represented an attempt by the German Luftwaffe to "Coventrize" the city.

Damage Great

But the ultimate in destruction which the German air force planned has not been achieved. The damage is by no means as heavy as that visited upon Coventry last week, when Nazi raiders killed and injured a thousand persons and reduced square miles of populous areas to rubble.

The nightlong raid, however, gave air raid precaution workers, fire fighters and home guards a man's size task today. For hours on end, they dug through the wreckage of private homes, public air raid shelters and scores of other buildings to rescue the injured and remove the bodies of the dead.

Thus far, there has been no official estimate of casualties. So far as morale is concerned, it is evident to the most casual observer that British determination is not wrecked as easily as centuries-old walls.

While the men and women charged with salvage and first aid pitched into their jobs, the rest of the people went to work in almost normal manner.

No Sign of Panic

Buses ran as usual. There was no sign of panic or of mass hysteria.

The only visible reaction again was one of bitterness and anger (Continued on Page Two)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20—Governor Bricker today issued a proclamation urging Ohioans to support the annual Christmas health seal sale, which begins November 25. Funds collected are used to combat tuberculosis.

SENATE'S WIRE TAPPING QUIZ STRIKES SNAG

Inquiry Fails To Support Senatorial Charges, Is Republican Claim

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—Internal dissension in the senate committee investigating wire tapping today threatened to terminate the inquiry.

Republican members are claiming that the committee should be dissolved because it has failed to produce the sensational cases promised when the investigation was ordered several months ago.

Both minority members of the committee, Sens. White (R) Me., and Gurney (R) S. D., charge that the inquiry has failed to substantiate the highly publicized claims of the committee's counsel, William P. Maloney, that the phones of supreme court justices and other highly-placed Washington officials have been tapped.

Halt Requested

Gurney plans to offer a motion that the committee dissolve and at least one Democratic member is reported favorably to abandonment of the inquiry. This member has said privately that "some way" should be found to end the life of the five-member committee and should he support Gurney's proposed motion, the vote would then be three to two for discontinuance.

"The committee has failed to establish any of its claims and is getting nowhere," Gurney said. "The committee knows that it's not getting anywhere, and we should quit."

Gurney said he will demand the removal of William P. Maloney, committee counsel, if a motion that the committee conclude its work is defeated. Accusing Maloney of "smear tactics."

Persecution Charged

He said: "The committee should determine whether we have got a committee prosecutor or persecutor, in my opinion he has been a persecutor."

The Republicans protested against Maloney's recent prediction that the committee had found evidence to warrant an investigation to determine whether the wires of justices of the supreme court had been tapped. They said the statement was released without consent of committee members, and that thus far there has been no evidence to warrant Maloney's claims.

BERLIN, Nov. 20—A threat of dire reprisals against England for a Royal Air Force attack on Potsdam was voiced by the Nazi press today.

All sections of the press lashed out against Britain for raids carried out on Berlin and Potsdam, recalling the warning of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler that British cities "will be eradicated" in retaliation for assaults against Germany.

The official news agency DNB was particularly incensed by disclosure that RAF bombs had fallen on Potsdam, which the service described as "the world famous city of Frederick the Great."

to read Amalgamated or any other union out of the C.I.O.

The convention's committee on constitution was expected to bring in a recommendation against the Communist resolution, but Amalgamated forces planned to force the issue to the floor.

Equal to the Communist battle
as a source of worry for C.I.O. was the question of electing a president to succeed Lewis. Vice President Philip Murray jolted top-ranking C.I.O. officers with an announcement he was not a candidate for the job, but union leaders hoped still to persuade him to accept it. A delegation including Amalgamated representatives and half a dozen other big union spokesmen called on Murray to pledge their support.

Trouble Looms
A turn-down from Murray in the election fight would throw the organization into near pandemonium, for no other leader commanded united support of the strike-riven C.I.O.

The program of Lewis himself called for elevation of Murray to the presidency, and then a rigorous drive to clean out internal dissension. So far in this convention, he has demonstrated his ability to hold the reins, and block all efforts to avenge him from the course he has set.

Lewis minced no words in his denunciation of advocates of labor peace. He said it was a waste of time, set the delegates laughing by tagging A. F. of L. President William Green "silly old Bill," and turned his most derisive oratory on Amalgamated's moves for new peace parleys.

"And now above all the clamor comes the piercing wail and the laments of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers," Lewis growled out of the side of his mouth. "And they say peace, it is wonderful.
And there is no peace.

Scuffs At Peace
"There is no peace because you are not yet strong enough to command peace upon honorable terms."

For the A. F. of L. leadership Lewis had nothing but scorn. He said peace terms of the rival labor unit were impossible and their offers insincere. He denounced William Green as a traitor to the United Mine Workers Union, in which he was formerly a member.
And he roared his derision of unions "possessed of little faith and whose courage is waning." For them he had this ironic message:
"If they find the night too dark, if they find the way too rough, let them sit by the wayside. Let them foregather in the shade of some friendly tree while those other valiant spirits go on in this great movement. They will carry on.
They will carry on."

"If there is anybody in the C.I.O. who wants to take the easy way, let them go on."

ROOSEVELT'S MARGIN IN OHIO SET AT 146,336

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20—Completion of the official tabulation by the Secretary of State's office today disclosed that President Roosevelt carried Ohio with a majority of 146,366 over Wendell L.
Willkie.

The total showed an increase of 2884 votes over the unofficial majority, which was 143,452. The official tally was: Roosevelt, 1,733-139; Willkie, 1,586,773.

President Roosevelt's majority in Cuyahoga County alone was 138,048. Hamilton County was the only large one in the state which returned a majority for Willkie.
The official count there was:
Willkie, 154,739; Roosevelt, 148-907.

BERLIN CLAIMS PARALYSIS OF ARMS DISTRICT

Ceremony At Vienna Gives Tremendous Boost To Germany In Balkans

marck and Tirpitz, the largest ever built in German yards.

German naval circles said they will strengthen considerably the position of the Reich at sea.

From Berlin came reports that the Nazi air force, using hundreds of heavy bombers and dropping one and two-ton bombs as well as thousands of incendiaries, landed a paralyzing blow on England's armament, munitions and steel industries at Birmingham.

"Retaliatory" Attack

This shattering attack was in retaliation for RAF raids on Hamburg, Kiel and Bremen, German quarters declared. It lasted for 10 hours.

Damage, according to the Germans, was confined chiefly to major plants producing war materials for the British.

At the same time, Berlin reported two RAF attacks on the German capital. Only a few bombs were dropped, it was claimed, but these hit hospitals, clinics and apartment houses.

From London came the news that wave upon wave of German planes attacked the midlands, and that heavy damages and casualties were reported. During part of the attack the German raiders zoomed over the midlands at a rate of more than one a minute.
Three midlands towns were severely bombed.

In one of these towns—presumably Birmingham although it was not named by the British—hundreds of rescue workers dug fev-erishly through piles of debris to rescue large numbers of buried men, women and children.

Boost for Axis

The adherence of Hungary to the Axis-Japanese alliance gave Germany a tremendous boost in the Balkans. Hungary was brought into the alliance at Vienna, where a protocol was signed by the German, Italian and Hungarian foreign ministers and the Japanese ambassador to Berlin.

Shortly before the protocol was signed, Chancellor Hitler arrived in Vienna.

At London, it was announced that RAF planes raided central Germany and other objectives during the night and that reconnaissance flights "proved" that the German passenger liner Europa had been heavily damaged by a previous bombing attack. Light British naval forces were reported to have sunk a German "E-boat" (motor torpedo boat) in the North Sea during the night.

Athens reports claimed new Greek advances on the Koritza and Epirus fronts and said Greek artillery was blasting Koritza, the Italian military base in Albania.

Koritza was reported partly in flames and the Greeks said they had captured two more nearby villages.

bed of $304 by two bandits today in the west end business district.

against an attack launched from so high in the skies that churches, hospitals and schools could not possibly be spared.

While it was admitted that the damage was serious, authoritative quarters said it did not reach the proportions of devastation caused by last week's attack on Coventry, largely because a terrific anti-aircraft barrage prevented many of the German raiders from reaching their objectives.

The number of casualties caused here was still undetermined late this morning.

When the attack first began the raid dropped parachute flares and then incendiary bombs which started numerous fires, most of which were speedily brought under control. A football grandstand was among the structures burned down.

With the fires burning, the German planes then dropped a veritable rain of high explosive bombs, particularly on one area which was lit by a huge blaze.

In this area business premises suffered severely and one entire shopping district was littered with debris.

MRS. EMMA RAMSEY DIES AT BERGER HOSPITAL

Mrs. Emma Ramsey, 154 Haypital, Wednesday at 8:20 a. m.

She was born in Ross County,

FULL HOUSE

Bing Crosby believes in competing with the solar system when it comes to having stars around his Music Hall. For instance, on Thursday, (Thanksgiving Day in some states) he's invited Robert Young, piano team Fray and Braggiotti, poet Ogden Nash, the Brewer Kids—Betty, Sonny and Heene—to join Bob Burns, Connie Boswell, the Music Mads and John Scott Trotter's orchestra for a solid hour of entertainment over the NBC red network at 9 p. m.

In the music department Bing will duet Cole Porter's brand new smash song, "Let's Be Buddies," with Connie Boswell. Crosby does "Ferryboat Serenade," "Song of Old Hawaii," "Maybe," "Legend of Old California," and for his 1895 memory tune, "The Band Played On." Connie sings, "A Million Dreams Ago," and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love."

WAYNE KING

"The Corporal Takes Command" a new song by Wayne King will be featured on the Wayne King program Saturday, 8:30 p. m. The six other selections on the program will be chosen from letters sent in by listeners and diamond rings will be awarded to the persons whose requests are played.

ACCORD SEEN IN CIO STRIKE AT VULTEE PLANT

LOS ANGELES, No. 20—Threeway negotiations being conducted by the War Department and defense commission to settle the Vultee Aircraft Company strike were resumed today, with indications that a settlement was in the offing.

Conferees, attempting to bring an end to the strike of 3,200 workers at Vultee's Downey plant, called for time-out at 9 p. m. last night after 36 hours of continuous sessions.

"We all are so punch-drunk from these long conferences that we decided a full night's sleep will do us all good, but there's a rainbow in the sky, which may mean better weather ahead," said Major Sidney P. Simpson, War Department aide.

The strike was called Friday by the Aircraft division of the CIO United Auto Workers' Union on a demand for a minimum pay raise from 50 to 75 cents an hour.
The plant then shut down.

Approximately $40,000,000 worth of contracts calling for United States army military planes and $11,000,000 worth of contracts for British planes are held by the Vultee Company.

SCHOOL PUPILS OF COUNTY GET FOUR DAY REST

Circleville and Pickaway County school children, Wednesday, made plans for a four-day Thanksgiving vacation, as all schools in the county closed for the remainder of the week.

Special Thanksgiving programs were given by primary grades in a number of the schools, while others dismissed early Wednesday afternoon.

City and county offices will be closed Thursday. The local draft board, as well as all offices in the Court House will be closed. The postoffice will dispatch mail as usual, Postmaster Hulise Hays, announced, although there will be no window service or city or rural deliveries during the day.

ELECTED OFFICER FACES NON-CITIZENSHIP CHARGE

WARREN, Nov. 20—Neil Duck, Trumbull County Democratic commissioner reelected on November 5, today faced charges of not being an American citizen filed by 25 county electors seeking to prevent him from taking office.

In a petition filed in Common Pleas court, the electors asked that Duck be barred and that A. L.
Mills, defeated Republican candidate be given the post.

Duck declared his father became a citizen when he was a baby which automatically made him a citizen.

MANY OF ISLE'S NOTED BUILDINGS STRUCK BY NAZIS

But Westminster Abbey, One Of Most Famous, Remains Unhit

HISTORY IS TRACED

Tombs Of Many Former Sovereigns Beneath Pavement

By International News Service
Westminster Abbey, one of the most beautiful examples of early English architecture and one of London's most historical structures, dates back as far as the 8th Century when it was dedicated to St. Peter and received the name "Westminster," or western monastery, probably because of its position to the west of the city of London.

The extant monastic building standing today dates mainly from the 13th and 14th century, when Henry III decided to honor St. Edward by rebuilding the entire church in a more magnificent style. However, there are still remains of Norman work in the Chamber of the Pyx (a chapel that became the depository of the "pyx," or chest containing the Eucharist trial-plates of gold and silver for various measurements) and the adjoining passageway called the Undercroft.

From 1269, when the newly rebuilt church was consecrated, it has been the royal burial-chamber. After Henry III's death in 1272 the work of transforming the Norman nave continued, with several interruptions, for over 200 years, and when the nave was completed the Lady Chapel was destroyed to make room for the magnificent Chapel of Henry VII.

Under Independent Dean
Queen Elizabeth placed the church under an independent Dean and Chapter, whose successors rule it today.

Westminster Abbey is 513 feet long and 200 feet broad across the transepts, and 75 feet broad across the nave and aisles. The nave is the loftiest Gothic nave in England towering 102 feet.

The sanctuary, or space within the altar-rails, where the coronations take place, have a venerable pavement made of mosaics brought from Rome about 1268.

It is in this sanctuary that every sovereign since William the Conqueror has been crowned except Edward V.

The Poet's Corner is one of the best-known sections of the Abbey, and it takes its name from the tombs of Chaucer and Spenser. Among the famous poets and writers who are buried or honored in this section are: Chaucer, Ben Jonson, Edmund Spenser, John Milton, Alfred Tennyson, and Henry Longfellow.

The chapel of Henry VII was built in 1503-19 and is the finest example in England of late-Perpendicular or Tudor Gothic architecture.

Within this beautiful chapel are the tombs of many of the crown sovereigns that once ruled the British Empire. Beneath the pavement between the door and the altar of this Chapel reposes George II (died 1760) — the last king buried in the Abbey. Above many of the tombs there are beautifully carved effigies of the buried ruler.

Queens Buried In Chapel
Among the famous Queens buried in the Chapel are Elizabeth and Caroline.

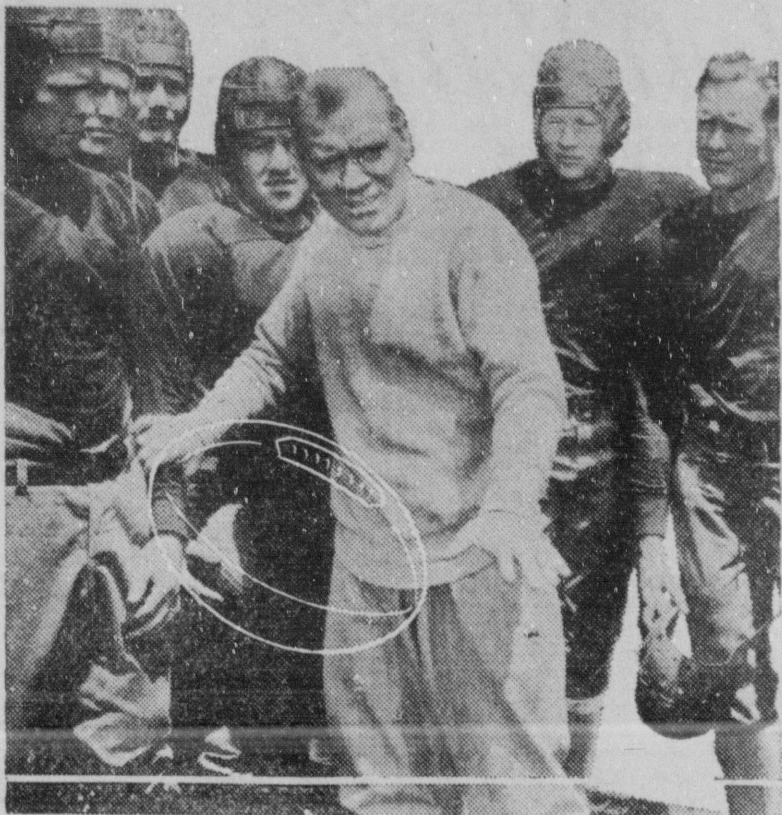

Immediately adjacent to the Abbey are the Cloisters which date from the 13th and 14th Century. The south walk (14th century) for two hundreds years after the conquest was the burial place of the abbots. The section of the Cloisters that once was the monks' dormitory is now occupied by the Abbey Library.

Westminster Abbey its surrounding yards, and cloisters for years has been one of England's outstanding symbols of tradition, and one of London's most famous landmarks.

Here's Official Number List For Draft

Editor's Note: The Herald publishes each day a number of names, Serial and Order Numbers of Pickaway Countians who registered under the Selective Service Act. This list is the official one as announced by the Draft Board. In the publication will be the name, serial and order number of each man who registered. In the list below the first number listed is the Serial Number; the second is the Order Number. For instance, Kenneth Rinehart registered. After the registration was completed the local Draft Board shuffled the names and conducted its draw. Rinehart was given No. 819 Serial Number. Later the federal government conducted its lottery in Washington and Rinehart's No. 819 was the 1285th Pickaway County number drawn from the glass bowl. So he will be the 1285th in the county to receive his questionnaire. The answers on which will decide whether he will be ordered into service for a year. In each instance below, the first number is the Serial Number and the second one is the Order Number, the order in which the registrant will be asked to fill his questionnaire.

VOLUNTEERS TO GET PHYSICAL EXAM SATURDAY

Six Pickaway County volunteers will be given physical examinations Saturday morning by Physical Examiner Dr. D. V. Courtwright, as the local board prepares to send three men to Fort Hayes, Columbus, next Thursday.

Providing they pass their physical examinations with a Class 1 A rating, the three to be sent, according to draft board officials, will be Dudley Woodrow Stout, 451 East Main Street, Bernard Russell Matz, Stoutsville, Route 1, and Millard William Good, 220 East Franklin Street.

Also to be given physical examinations Saturday will be Delbert Leo Bailey, Circleville, Route 2, Richard Hunter Mills, 153 Watt Street, and Albert Newland, 1238 South Pickaway Street.

Meeting at their office in the Court House Tuesday night, draft board members began their classification of the county's 2,700 registrants. About 75 have already been classified, Emmitt Crist, chairman of the draft board said.

The Registrant's Advisory Committee, together with members of the Pickaway County Bar Association met again in Common Pleas Court room, Wednesday afternoon, to assist registrants in filling out their questionnaires.

BUS KILLS HUNTER
COLUMBUS, Nov. 20—Richard Johnson, 41-year-old Columbus Negro laborer, was dead today, the victim of injuries received when his bicycle was struck by a bus as he was riding home from a hunting trip. George Langley, of Chillicothe, driver of the bus, said he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ADOLF'S PEP TALK

THAT last pep talk of Hitler's, delivered to German workers as the big Soviet delegation went back to Moscow after a long and doubtful interview, is interesting. It may show, in reverse, what the Fuehrer is thinking about.

It is the function and duty of the Reich, he explained, to serve the world as a model socialist state. The present war is being waged against "a plutocratic, capitalist England," which is so perverse and unsocial as to fight the German socialist state.

"This struggle," he explained, "is established on the firmest and strongest foundation possible, and Germany, with her solid labor front, will carry through the fight and, when its victory is achieved, the German socialist state will be completed as a model for the world."

It is interesting, though not very convincing. Various reports leaking out of Germany suggest that the people themselves are growing doubtful of either military or ideological success. Hitler himself, when he is winning, doesn't talk but pushes ahead. Things haven't been going so well lately, and he is far behind in his schedule of conquest. Can it be that he is talking to keep up his courage?

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

IT is understandable that a "board of attendance" in any school system should aim at 100 percent success, as does that of New York City. But a drive to get all children to attend school regularly needs to be handled with discretion.

The medical authorities have been trying for years to teach parents to keep the child with the sniffles, even mild ones, home long enough to find out whether he's coming down with a contagious disease. The psychologists consider it a good idea to keep the fretful child home now and then to find out whether he's ill or overtired and to apply the proper remedy, which may be medical attention or a timely nap.

Children are very susceptible to contests involving special honors or prizes or merely titles to "first place." Many of them would be inclined to conceal from parents and teachers headaches or sore throats in order to make their own attendance record 100 percent under the stress of such a drive. The outbreak of an epidemic would be more disastrous to attendance records and the well-being of a community than a little truancy.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

OUR NATIONAL defense commission is showing a very creditable appreciation of the fact that a boom inspired by an enormous demand for war supplies isn't a healthy kind of prosperity.

Leon Henderson is the commission's chief expert at the job of preventing us from over-inflating ourselves economically and thus far he's been handling it pretty competently. How long he'll be able to keep the soft pedal on, as orders pile in for our own defensive equipment and to meet Britain's requirements, is problematic.

Leon is an exceptionally capable economist. He had the hard luck to be appointed to a key post in the NRA organization, in early New Deal days, and it was bad advertising for him, considering the fashion in which the NRA floundered. However, it wasn't his fault. That boom already had busted. It was too late for him to do much about it. This time he's trying to prevent a boom. If he succeeds in doing it there'll be nothing to bust subsequently.

Henderson acutely realizes that a boom isn't genuine prosperity. He also realizes that war goods haven't any inherent value. An individual, for instance, may have to tote a gun if he's in a tough neighborhood, but it doesn't satisfy his hunger like food that he eats, or keep him warm, like the clothes he wears. The money he's spent on that gun is just a dead waste as soon as he gets into safer surroundings. His food, on the other hand, is comfortably assimilated into his system and his suit's as serviceable as ever.

GUNS ARE NOT WEALTH

So, if an epidemic of gun-toting's unavoidable, all right, says Leon, let's tote em, but don't let's assume that guns are wealth in an economic sense.

Leon classes a war with a conflagration.

Now, I can remember the San Francisco earthquake and fire. Directly after that calamity, I recall that a lot of people said, "Well, it's too bad. Nevertheless, San Fran's due for a wonderful period of prosperity, for it will have to be rebuilt and it'll make work for everybody."

It did have such a period, too, for a while, while construction was in progress.

But I lived in San Fran a few years later and everything was flatter than a pancake. The reconstruction era was past and the town was beginning to feel the effects of its previous destruction. It stands to reason that a man can't save up his money for half a lifetime, then throw it in the cook-stove and burn it up, and figure that then he'll be wonderfully prosperous because he's got to start over again.

Leon Henderson's position is that we'll be burning our money up (that is to say, wasting our labor) on our armament program. It won't be as bad as actual war, but we may get into that likewise. And then we have a boom, while re-supplying ourselves with the real necessities of life? For a spell, doubtless, as during and after the last war. But it will be slide prosperity. Such is Leon's celebration.

What he's trying to do is to head off a boom—being sure that booms inevitably pop ultimately.

I have a deal of respect for academic economists, like Leon Henderson, in comparison with some of our big businessmen.

IT PUZZLED 'EM

During our last post-war boom I couldn't understand why we were not having a depression instead. It seemed to me that it ought to have been a certainty as a sequel to the 1914-18 conflict. But finally the boom did blow up. Thereupon the senate's banking and currency committee conducted an investigation to determine, if possible, what was the matter with us. All our outstanding financiers were subpoenaed as witnesses—including J. P. Morgan and all his satellites.

One after another these birds testified, "The depression puzzles us. We thought there might be a depression, but we didn't know it was going to be as bad as it is."

Why, heck! I knew it. What had stumped me was that it hadn't come sooner. And any time I know more about booms and slumps, than J. P. Morgan professes to know, either he isn't speaking quite candidly or else he isn't as wise as I'd supposed him to be.

(That was the time J. P. was photographed with a circus midget in his lap.)

Anyway, another boom is what Leon Henderson is trying to vaccinate us against.

BRITISH TAKING BEATING

WASHINGTON—The uncensored facts reaching here in the diplomatic pouch indicate that British cities are taking a far worse beating than the public realizes. The destruction of Coventry was just one eye-opener.

One friendly observer just back from England describes London—probably quite accurately—as the Verduin of the present war.

London is the battle on which the outcome of the war may depend. But the difference is that the punishment at Verdun was born by seasoned troops, while women, children, civilians and supply factories remained far behind the lines. In London the situation is just as if women and children, hospitals and munitions plants were right up in the front line trenches.

Under this bombardment, all observers report, the courage of the British people is heroic in the extreme. Watchers remain on the roof-tops while bombs rain around them at the rate of one a minute. The watchers are supposed to spot bombs as they fall, since more and more bombs are now of the delayed-action variety, and have to be carried off to an isolated place before they explode.

The watchers laugh, joke and call out from adjoining roof-tops, but they never leave their posts.

During the night many people cannot sleep, so they take cat-naps in the daytime. You see London stenographers sleeping in strange places, sometimes at their desks, sometimes in corridors. And there is complete tolerance on the part of employers toward sleeping employees.

ENGLAND LOOKS TO U. S. A.

Despite this heroism, the American public might as well look the facts squarely in the face—namely, that few people in Great Britain would continue this suffering if they were not confident that very vigorous, major help was coming from the United States.

In fact, most of the British people, much as they are suffering, do not have any full idea of the danger which the Empire faces. Two main categories of information are held back from them: (1) the amount of damage done to factories, especially munitions works; and (2) the terrific toll of British shipping.

In a general way, of course, it is realized that Hitler's present plans is to starve out England while still continuing to subject London to tragic air-raids. But most of the population have little idea how desperately the Empire today needs ships.

NOTE—Britain has now received in trade or for cash 50 U. S. destroyers and 30 old Shipping Board vessels. But the time is not far off when new requests for U. S. ships will be forthcoming.

Join the Fight on Old Enemy—Tuberculosis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Once more the Christmas seals of the National Tuberculosis Association go on sale this week. Every year they come to remind us that we are winning the battle against this old enemy of mankind, but that it takes continuous and unremitting effort. Every year the money from these stamps goes to help finance the efforts of the local branches of the National Association in their many activities: surveys of the community in order to catch incipient cases of tuberculosis; open air schools in order to strengthen the resistance of children susceptible to tuberculosis and prevent its development; the care of those who have the disease developed, and the protection of those who may be exposed to the contagion.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Disease's Role in History

Tuberculosis has played an important part in history. Famous people who have had tuberculosis include:

In literature, Schiller, Keats, Byron, Thoreau, Brontë, Molière and Robert Louis Stevenson.

In music, Chopin, Paganini and Mozart.

In art, Raphael.

In philosophy, Voltaire, St. Francis of Assisi and John Calvin. Statesmen, Cicero, Cecil Rhodes. Sailors, Lord Nelson and John Paul Jones.

In science, Descartes, Priestley and Luther Burbank.

In medicine, Laënnec, Ehrlich, Benjamin Rush and Trudeau.

Some medical philosophers speak of a tuberculosis temperament. They believe that the toxins of the germ stimulate certain kinds of personality in order to make them produce their best work. Perhaps such men as Keats and Stevenson would not have been so inspired had it not been for the tubercle bacillus. Others deny any typical temperamental results from this combination.

Certainly most humans who harbor the tubercle bacillus do not rise to any such heights as those of Raphael or Chopin. No, we can afford to take the risk of not having the germs in order to bend our efforts towards getting the better of this disease.

Modern Views of Tuberculosis

In some of my articles during the coming two or three weeks, I shall take occasion to discuss the modern view of tuberculosis as held by the most alert workers in the field today and what their plan of campaign is. We are vitally interested in this subject on account of the men going into the new army. We wish to be sure we have no tuberculosis patients among them.

I shall discuss also the work on the prevention of tuberculosis in schools and the modern methods of treatment and detection of cases in the general civil adult population. Leaving the problem of the soldier out, the two main attacks of the National Tuberculosis Association nowadays are in the treatment of school children in an attempt to stop the disease before it gets a head start and, second, to remove open cases of adult tuberculosis in the civil population so that they do not infect others and can have proper care.

On Wings of Song

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

By MARIE BLIZZARD

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

The printed words of shocking truth leaped at Kit from the old clippings:

YESTERDAY IN RADIO

By Jasper Dowd
"Dubbed the Sember Songbird, Contest Winner Kitty O'Reilly last night proved herself a fledgling as yet too untamed to venture with impunity from whatever nest shelters such songsters. Her voice has the dubious quality of sweetness, but it lacks the full-throated, cultivated quality and dramatic flair one was led to expect in proportion to the enterprise which lured her. It gives one reason to suspect that guests of this kind prove . . ."

Kit put the clipping down and picked up another. The second one was also from the pen of Jasper Dowd. She read:

"After three programs, it is our sad duty to report that we cannot predict a happy future for the Sember Cinderella girl, Kitty O'Reilly. Her voice, now minus even the quality of sweetness which first marked it, is too small to rate her spot. Last night's Sember program high-lighted a violin solo by Mark Monocco, long a member of the Sember orchestra. One wonders if sponsors wouldn't do better to look for home talent rather than to expensive contests for star material."

Kit wished that she could put them all aside. But, mechanically, she picked up another:

SEMBER PROGRAM REVISED
"Following the example of other more successful shows, the Sember radio directors have revised their policy and will give top billing to guest stars. An impressive list of Broadway and Hollywood stars, as well as operatic names, will be in the audience beginning April 3.
This move, it is believed, is made to offset the audience loss suffered by this long-time show when its widely publicized contest winner, Kitty O'Reilly, failed to make the grade as a big-time spot filler. Miss O'Reilly will continue as a regular member of the company."

Kit's teeth made small marks on her lips and her cheek bones shone where the skin seemed tightly drawn over them. She had to go on, she picked up a bunch of clippings pinned together. Clippings of Winchell's and Sullivan's and Fernald's columns. She picked out the items ringed with a blue pencil:

"Hands across the table! Jerry Sember and Kitty O'Reilly at the Stork Club Tuesday night. The El Morocco Wednesday, at the Gay Nineties Thursday."

Kit said aloud, "I wouldn't have to keep a diary." She turned the clipping over to reveal the next one.

"What radio oriole with a Helen-of-Troy face (and a not-too-good voice) is getting star support on her big-time program because of her action of endorsing company is determined to put her over?"

Fernald wrote:

"The life of Reilly (with an O) is something many a starlet yearns for. It's a new version of an old theme and it means yachting parties and unearned stardom if the starlet makes her debut at the top and stays there. Her young sponsor is willing to spend a fortune to keep her there in spite of consistently mediocre performances."

One-Minute Test

1. What is the Greek word for God?
2. What is the difference between a synthetic and an imitation stone?
3. What are "cats and dogs" in stock market parlance?

Words of Wisdom

Something men have that half-gods never know, the power to sensitize cold, lifeless things; to make stones breathe, and out of metal grow escarpments that deny the needs of wings.—Virginia McCormick.

Hints on Etiquette

Be tidy in your habits, but not over tidy, nagging at the other members of the household for every tiny slip. A pleasant face and voice and tolerance are more to be desired than great orderliness.

Today's Horoscope

Use care and discretion in your love and domestic affairs during the next year, if you have a birthday today. Also check waste in your business, and the year will be favorable to you in the main. Headstrong, impulsive and quick-tempered will be the child born on this date. This will be especially true if the child is born about noon. He or she will possess energy, however, and will be moderately successful.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. Theos.
2. A synthetic stone has the same chemical composition as the natural stone but is made by man; an imitation stone looks like the natural one but has an entirely different composition.
3. Miscellaneous securities of a low speculative value.

Kit thrust the clippings back into the envelope and put it back where she had found it. She got up and dusted her hands and walked into her own room. She thrust some clothes into a suitcase and snapped the clamps together. Then she went to the telephone and ordered a taxi.

With no expression at all on her face, she closed her piano and drew the shades. At her desk she opened a strong box and took out of it a newspaper picture of Vance, and her Sember contract. The first she put in her pocketbook; the second she tore into powdery pieces and dropped into the waste basket.

The timetable she had sought a few days before lay under her hand. She ran a finger down the list of station stops in Connecticut. Her finger stopped beside the name Elmford Junction.

She scribbled a few lines on a piece of note paper, put it in an envelope, and wrote Fran's name on it. This she put on the mantle.

The superintendent knocked at her door and announced that her taxi was waiting.

Kit picked up her gloves and pocketbook and walked out of the room without looking back.

Joe Miller, sole owner and proprietor of the Elmford garage, boasted that he could tell a prospect half a mile away. Unless Joe's prediction was wrong, the small one-blue coupe spurring jerkily past the roadside diner, was destined for a stop at his place. Steam rose in clouds from the radiator as the car came closer, obscuring his view of the driver.

Joe wiped his hands on his greasy overalls and picked up a water pail. He didn't look around from the faucet as the car wheels grated on the gravel drive.

The car stopped and the driver removed a square of linen from the breast pocket of his white coat and wiped his face.

"Gas?" Joe asked succinctly as he poured water into the radiator. "All she'll hold. Oil, too, I guess," his customer replied.

Joe gave him a passing glance as he went around to the back of the car, kicking the rear tires as he went. "Guess you need air, too, Mr. Healey."

Vance flexed his cramped muscles and ran the handkerchief around under his collar. "I'm a stranger around here," he said with a friendly grin. "You Yankees always call your shots?"

"You're no stranger around here, Mr. Healey. Not since we got news-reels up here. What do you think of the Giants' chances this year?"

Defense Stressed By Speaker Before D. A. R.

New Arms Cited As Leaders For All World

Lieut. Samuel A. Montague of the Fifth Corps Area, Fort Hayes, Columbus, spoke on "National Defense" at the anniversary meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker, West Union Street.

Lieut. Montague, who had taken a three-month refresher course during the summer at Fort Benning, was full of enthusiasm for the new rifle, the new 60 millimeter mortar and the anti-tank gun that can be handled by five men, and discussed their use at the Fort and told how they were gradually replacing old equipment in the various departments.

National Defense can be divided three ways according to Lieut. Montague: 1. The people who direct it; 2. The people who construct it; 3. The people who have to use it. Going further, he said that Congress determines it, industry makes it and the army uses it.

Favors Draft

While the arms angle is important, he said that the moral or human angle was the thing that counted. He expressed himself as very much in favor of conscription and selective service and spoke of the guards now in camp at Hattiesburg. Having been stationed there at one time, he told about the tour, discussed the weather, which he said was unaccountable, having dropped to 15 below zero last winter, and told of the lighter or social side of the camp in that locality.

He considered the selective service a great benefit to the country as an undoubtedly democratic way of living, when men meet and live together from all sections of the United States. So, he said, they find out other peoples problems, get new ideas and acquire a broader viewpoint. He mentioned that army life teaches a lot of people the meaning of time; that a soldier when told to do something cannot be made to do it but can be made to wish he had; that after adjustment, a soldier does not mind the life at all, it has its compensations.

Handicap for U. S.

He said that the greatest handicap we have here in the United States is that we do not know whom we are going to have to fight. In Europe, each country had definite knowledge in that direction and so could prepare. He spoke of the enlisted personnel as fairly high, a lot of the undesirable being weeded out, the army working itself up to a smooth functioning machine. He discussed the shifting of officers, the best talent being selected to handle tactical units.

Ritualistic Opening

Mrs. C. C. Watts, regent, and Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson, chaplain, conducted the ritualistic opening of the chapter at the close of the dinner hour a cooperative dinner having been enjoyed at 6 p. m. by almost 50 members and guests. Mrs. Hunsicker, founder and organizing regent, read a report made by her at a state meeting two and one-half years after the founding of the society.

Mrs. Watts in a brief talk told of the stand taken by the D.A.R. in favor of compulsory military training and mentioned that one program during each year is devoted to the study of National Defense.

Contributions were asked for the Ellis Island fund, and it was decided to make donations to it as the Christmas project of the chapter.

Vases of large yellow chrysanthemums were used in decorating the rooms of the Hunsicker home for the meeting, dinner being served by candle light from the buffet table in the dining room. Hundreds of members were guests for the affair.

The assisting hostesses were Miss Elsie Jewell, Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, Mrs. James P. Moffitt,

Child Conservation League

Mrs. Brunelle Parrett Downing, supervisor of art in the Circleville Schools, was guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of the Child Conservation League at the home of Mrs. J. E. Groom, Park Place, discussing "Art Guidance." Mrs. Downing directed most of her remarks to the consideration of the pre-school child. She displayed samples of the work of pupils in her classes and gave an interesting demonstration of how she teaches color, beginning with first grade pupils. She also demonstrated her method of teaching the use of scissors and paint brush, accompanying her demonstrations with an informative running comment both interesting and instructive.

Mrs. Downing stressed the fact that art should be a part of our daily lives and that it can be found everywhere. She closed with the thought that "to live a beautiful and gracious life is an art in itself."

Mrs. Tom Renick, president, led the business meeting, final arrangements being made for the Clare Tree Major play, "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates", the league sponsoring its presentation at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Clifton Theatre.

It was also voted to donate $2 to the Red Cross.

Madison P-T. A.

Madison Township Parent-Teacher Association sponsored an amateur hour contest with 21 entrants Monday at the school with approximately 200 present for the occasion. Prizes were awarded in the junior and senior entries.

Mrs. Herman Berger of Ashville, Mrs. John Cooper, Groveport and the Rev. Mr. Ridenour, Canal Winchester, served as judges.

In the junior contest, Betty Lou Badger and Joy Winterhoff won first prize with their song, "Playmates." The Porchet sisters, Ruth, Mary, Georgia and Joan, won second with their song, "Beautiful Dreamer." Rosemary Fisher, 5, captured third place with her song, "Butterfly" and "Big Ship", for which she played her own piano accompaniments.

Roy Kuhlwein and Paul Barch played a harmonica duet to win first place in the senior competition. The Misses Ada Lou Beckett, Mary Virginia Baum and Norma Jean Hines, playing accordion, trumpet and laudenspiel, won the second prize, the third going to the "Old Time Fiddlers," F. Klechle, E. Vance, A. Moore and A. Robinson, of Groveport.

Mrs. Wayne Brown was chairman of the program committee.

The refreshments committee served cookies and apples during the social hour.

Logan Elm Grange

Approximately 80 relatives and friends of the Pickaway Township 4-H Club members were present for the achievement program Tuesday following the business meeting of Logan Elm Grange in the school auditorium.

"Things we have to be thankful for" was a short Thanksgiving playlet presented by members of the sewing club, Carolyn Wright, Mary Penn, Ann Bradley, Helen Riffel, Dolores McKenzie and Elleen Martens. The history of the club was read by Ann Bradley.

Scene From League Presentation

HANS and Gretel Brinker (Dennis Allen and Gertrude Ogsbury) dance gaily in their beautiful new clothes after their father is cured, their lost money has been found, and Gretel has won the coveted silver skates. This is a scene from the Clare Tree Major production, "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates", being presented Tuesday, November 26, at the Clifton Theatre by the Child Conservation League.

Each girl wore the apron she had made as part of her project. Junior Stuckey told the story of the boys' club and Bobby Porter entertained the group with a piano solo.

F. K. Blair, county agent, before presenting the awards, told many interesting facts of the growth of 4-H club work.

Mrs. Marvin H. Dreisbach and Mrs. Joseph Anderson were co-chairmen of the refreshments committee, lunch being served in the dining room. Fall flowers decorated the tables for the affair.

Pickaway P-T. A.

"Know Your School" is the theme for discussion when Pickaway Township Parent-Teacher Association meets at 8 p. m. Thursday, November 28, in the school auditorium, for the first session of the school year.

Several members of the faculty will discuss activities of the school.

Nebraska Grange

C. E. Webb, agent of game management of Pickaway County, gave an interesting talk on "Wild Life and How to Preserve It" at the Tuesday session of Nebraska Grange in the grange hall. In connection with his discussion, Mr. Webb showed interesting motion pictures. He urged the members to provide sheltered feeding places and food for pheasants, quail, song birds and small game during the coming winter months.

St. Paul Circle

The St. Paul Circle met recently at the home of Edwin, Margaret and Bobby Hill, Washington Township, Martha Bolender leading the opening devotional period.

During the business hour in charge of Marvin Marshall, it was reported that 12 Circle members had attended the district rally at the Ohio Avenue Church, Columbus. Since two more requirements for the efficiency goal had been met, two gold seals were presented and added to the "Standard of Efficiency Chart."

The Rev. H. P. Dutt conducted the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Paul Hankins, Jr., program chairman, presented Paul Marshall who read a short poem; Arthur K. Bowman, "How to Spoil a Circle Meeting"; David Bolender, "New Missionaries at Red Bird". The chairman then read a chapter from the study book, "Stand

By for China", the prepared questions being asked by the various members and answered by Paul Hankins as Dr. Wang Wu of China.

Paul Marshall and Gail Leist were in charge of the recreational period and presented games for the entertainment.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session.

Harper Bible Class

The Harper Bible Class of the United Brethren Church will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick of North Pickaway Street. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Russell will be assisting hosts.

Willing Workers' Class

Mrs. Paul Barnhart of Marcy will entertain the Willing Workers' Class of the Pontius United Brethren Church of Washington Township at 2 p. m. Friday.

Magic Sewing Club

The Magic Sewing Club will meet Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Grubb, West High Street.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

MANDATE FOR WHAT?

The London "Times", and American interventionists are pleased to interpret the election as a mandate for getting America further into the war. The White Committee, in particular, is rushing about demanding "unity". In other words, they seem to want Congress to abdicate and turn everything over to the newly re-elected President.

Neither good sportsmanship, loyalty to our institutions, nor election returns warrant any such demand. If, as and when we go to war, this column will support the war. Then "unity" is required. But until that dread day comes, we insist that until the President and Congress (note that "and") decide on war, we, the people, have a right to debate the wisdom of going to war.

In New England, with many of French Canadian stock, it seems plain that Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy of noncombatant belligerency got some sort of a mandate. In Maine and Vermont, for example, the Wilkie margin was less than London's in 1936.

Yet in Massachusetts Senator Walsh who opposed the President's foreign policy, was also given a vote of confidence.

PETTENGILL Elsewhere, the returns run all the way from mild to strong disapproval of the interventionist viewpoint. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, who voted against lifting the embargo as well as against conscription, carried his State by a wide margin while Roosevelt lost it.

Roosevelt carried Montana, but so did Senator Wheeler, his chief opponent in the Democratic party on foreign policy. Montana also sent Jeanette Rankin back to Congress where she voted against the last war in 1917.

Roosevelt carried Wisconsin but so did Senator La Follette, adversary on foreign policy. Roosevelt carried Minnesota, but so did Senator Shipstead, another opponent. In Illinois, Mr. Roosevelt won, but Senator Slattery was defeated by C. Wayland Brooks, outspoken against the defense-America-by-defending-the-allies policy. His party elected a governor and gained six seats in Congress.

In Indiana and Iowa not a single Congressman who voted against conscription was defeated, and Wilkie carried both States. Indiana displaced Senator Minton, Mr. Roosevelt's whip in the Senate, with the anti-war Republican Willis.

In New York, the President's Congressman, Hamilton Fish, of "Martin, Barton and Fish", ranking minority member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was elected despite a determined drive by Mr. Roosevelt, Dorothy Thompson and pro-British Republicans to defeat him.

In Missouri, home of Senator Bennett Clark, critic of our foreign policy, the Republicans picked up two seats in Congress. In California, home of Hiram Johnson, strong anti-war Senator, the President's plurality shrank about 400,000 votes since 1936.

In the seven States of Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, Mr. Roosevelt's aggregate plurality was about 278,000 out of 15,400,000 votes. In other words, he had 28 votes where Wilkie had 27. What sort of a mandate is this?

Throughout the nation Mr. Roosevelt's total plurality was about 4,500,000 compared with 10,797,000 four years ago. And 2,500,000 of his plurality was in the Solid South which he would have carried on any issue. In other words, in four years Mr. Roosevelt's margin shrank by 6,300,000 votes. Including the Congressional districts in the Solid South, this was an average loss per district throughout the nation of 14,500 votes. Again, what is this mandate to do?

Let us look at this plurality of 4,500,000 from another angle. The 2,500,000 in the South means little or nothing so far as issues are concerned. That leaves about 2,000,000 in the rest of the nation. That is less than the WPA vote, which probably went 90 percent Democratic. They did not vote on issues. They voted for bread and butter. It is less than the machine vote in Jersey City, New York, Chicago, Kansas City, etc., which again does not vote on issues. So, eliminating the Solid South, Santa Claus, and the city machines, it is plain as a pickaxe that not Mr. Roosevelt but Mr. Wilkie had the plurality, but not the Presidency.

Admittedly the issue is confused by reason of Mr. Wilkie's adopting a foreign policy so closely parallel to Mr. Roosevelt's. But as I read the figures the mandate is to Defend America by Defending America and Keep Out of Foreign Wars.

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL.

LOUIS MAY GO IN RETIREMENT

Famous Boxer Might Be Forced Out Of Game By Lack Of Foes

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—The retirement of Joe Louis as heavyweight champion by the end of next year, at the very latest, seems inevitable.

He is a rich man already and his riches will grow during the next few months, removing the basic reason for his professional fist-fighting. But more important is the fact that by then there won't be anybody for him to fight. There isn't a legitimate foe in operation for him even now. There are a few fifth raters who can be built up for one reason or another into semi-attractions, and these will keep him busy until they have been used up. After that it would be ridiculous for him to go on.

My assumption is, of course, that there won't be any developments in the meantime to alter the situation, for Louis will kill off potential challengers as fast as they show up, and those that he doesn't get will be taken care of by each other.

Much of the glamour of the heavyweight championship already has been wiped out by the frequency with which Louis fights, and due to the lack of novelty in heavyweight defenses and the poor calibre of opposition, interest quite obviously is on the wane. This is said without criticism or disparagement of Louis. To the contrary, he has been the kind of heavyweight champion everybody clamored to see for so long — a champion who would take all-comers in four or five fights a year.

He has met the best of a bad lot, first come first served.

The opposition finally has reached a new low for recent years. Maybe you've heard that one before, for seemingly there must be a shortage of capable challengers when the champion is a capable champion.

However, there hasn't been a time in the last decade at least when opponents had to be culled from among fifth raters who can't even win consistently from each other. Louis simply has worked his way down to the leavings, beyond which there can't be anything but idleness. The two just barely remote possibilities are Max Baer and Billy Conn, both capable up to a point, though not to be construed as top flight challengers. And, anyhow, Louis probably will take care of them next year, too, along with the rest. This probably will be the program.

The already closed match with Al McCoy at Boston on December 16; Lee Savold in New York in January; best available opponents at Chicago and Detroit later on, or outdoor shows with Baer and Conn, or any combination thereof.

Perhaps there is some strong, game, willing fellow around somewhere who will barge into the middle of the scene and even win the title before Louis can take it into retirement, but I doubt it. If there was even a fair fourth-rater anywhere in his country Promoter Mike Jacobs would know about him and would be pointing him for the champion.

Jacobs is as confounded by all this as anybody else. He wants to keep Louis active, but eventually will have to admit that there just isn't anybody else for him to meet. That, of course, will be the clincher. Then Louis will go out of circulation to mind his horses and other wild life on the ranch outside Detroit.

Microphyllous is a Greek word meaning small leaf.

BUCKS, AIMING AT TOM HARMON; AWAITING TEST

New Enthusiasm Evident In State Squad Following Hard Workout

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20—With enthusiasm unnoticed before this season, Ohio State University's football team went through a heavy workout today for Saturday's final tilt against the Michigan Wolverines. The Bucks were reported in top physical condition. Coach Francis Schmidt was building his defense mainly to stop Tom Harmon, Michigan star.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 19—Eight members of the Michigan University football team will be returning to their home state Saturday when the Wolverines clash with Ohio State at Columbus before 75,000.

Two of the Buckeyes, Harold "Tippy" Lockard, of Canton, and Bob Kolesar, of Cleveland, are expected to be in the starting lineup. Others on the Wolverine squad who claim Ohio as their native soil are Paul Kromer, Lorain; Norm Call, Norwalk; Bob Kreska, Shaker Heights; Ed Czark, Elyria; Harry Kohl, Dayton, and Phil Sharpe, Lakewood. Kromer, Czark and Kohl are seniors.

CRY RAISED TO DRAFT GOPHERS FOR ROSE BOWL

CHICAGO, Nov. 20—What with the University of Minnesota having given conclusive evidence that it possesses a football team that ranks among the best in the gridiron history of the western conference, pressure is being brought to bear on the Big Ten to "let down the bars" and permit the Gophers to participate in a post-season game.

This pressure is being brought from several quarters in the hope that all obstacles will be removed to permit Minnesota to oppose Stanford University in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena on January 1. Sponsors of the "draft-Minnesota for the Rose Bowl" movement point out that the Gophers, winners of the Western Conference grid crown, are entitled to consideration in any quarter where national championships are discussed.

A look at the record is enough to assure any "doubting Thomas" that the Gophers really have it. Any team that can defeat Washington, Nebraska, Ohio State, Iowa, Northwestern, Michigan and Purdue must be classed among the power-house football teams. Added intersectional prestige is given the Gophers because their victims have defeated some of the nation's outstanding teams.

ENS TAKES POST AS COACH WITH RHINELANDERS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20—Jewell Ens, manager of the Indianapolis Club of the American Association, today had resigned his second managerial position to accept a job as coach of the Cincinnati Reds.

Ens, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates from 1930 to 1938, succeeds Jimmy Wilson, newly signed manager of the Chicago Cubs.

It will be Ens' second year as a coach for the Reds. He resigned his Pittsburgh managerial duties in 1933 to coach under Donie Bush, then manager of the Redlegs. A few years later he returned to Pittsburgh to work under Pie Traynor, then returned to the Cincinnati team last year as a scout. He joined the Indianapolis club in the middle of the 1940 season when Wes Griffin resigned.

Wade Killefer, Harmons Beach, Calif., was named to succeed Ens as Indianapolis chief. Killefer served as manager of the Indians from 1938 through 1937 and managed the Hollywood Club of the Pacific Coast league for two seasons before retiring at the close of the 1939 schedule.

WHITTAKER FAVORED AS SIX MILE RUN WINNER

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20—Jim Whittaker, former Ohio State University cross-country runner, was top-heavy favorite to repeat his victory of two years ago in the annual Thanksgiving Day six-mile race sponsored by the Cincinnati Elk's Club. The runners will start at Fort Thomas, Ky., military post gymnasium and finish at the club home in Cincinnati. Whittaker now lives at Kent.

CHURCHES OF COUNTY PREPARED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICES

CONGREGATIONS OF CITY HOLD UNION SERVICE

Episcopal Pastor To Speak
At Joint Session In First Methodist Church

MUSIC TO BE FEATURE

Lutherans Meet In Evening
And Catholics To Pray
For Civil Authorities

Churches in Circleville, and in many places in the county, will conduct special Thanksgiving Day services, Thursday.

Services sponsored by the Pickaway County Ministerial Association will be held at 10 a. m. in the First Methodist Church, with church members throughout the county invited to attend.

The Rev. L. C. Sherburne, pastor of the St. Philip's Episcopal Church, will be principal speaker. The program will open with a prelude and procession, followed by a responsive reading, led by the Rev. A. N. Gruesser, pastor of the First United Brethren Church.

Special music for the program will include a vocal solo, "The Lord's Prayer" by Mrs. Harold S. Defenbaugh and the anthem "Rejoice and Sing," an arrangement from the "Pilgrim Chorus," sung by the Methodist Church choir. The program will close with the doxology and benediction.

Services at the Reformed Church, Stoutsville, will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30, with the Rev. R. S. Allrich, pastor of the church, delivering the special Union Thanksgiving sermon. Special music for the service will be supplied by the Reformed Church choir. All Stoutsville churches have been invited to the program.

Lutherans will also hold special Thanksgiving services, Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Trinity Lutheran Church, with the sermon topic being "God, I Thank Thee For America."

Guest soloist will be Miss Janice Merrill of Capital University School of Music, while other music features will include a solo by Carl C. Leist, who will sing the 95th Psalm, and Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, who will sing "God Bless America," the congregation joining in the chorus.

Members of the church have been asked to bring to the service special donations of canned fruits, vegetables and other products, which will be distributed to the needy.

Special services at St. Joseph's Catholic Church will be conducted Thursday at 8 p. m., with prayers for the Civil Authorities, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

THE big three of the United Mine Workers' Union, and almost equally big in the councils of the C.I.O. in Atlantic City. They are, left to right, Phillip Murray, vice president of the C.I.O., and of the mine workers; John L. Lewis, miners' leader and C.I.O. chieftain, and Thomas Kennedy, miners' secretary. Kennedy and Murray are candidates for Lewis' C.I.O. post should he resign.

SCHOOL BOARD PUZZLE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO PROMPTS RESIGNATIONS CONFER DEGREES MONDAY

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 20—Two minority members of the Twin Township Board of Education, C. M. Beath and David Summers, who opposed the closing of the Bourneville schools and the re-submission of a three-mill levy to the voters, offered to resign, Wednesday, providing "the whole matter be turned over to the County Board of Education with the understanding that there would be an entirely different Board of Education with a new Superintendent of Schools.

In making their statement, the two board members said they believed they were acting in the interests of the voters, since within the last six months the levy had been defeated twice.

The Bourneville schools were closed by the board following defeat of the levy in the general election.

SNATCHER SHOT, JAILED. COLUMBUS, Nov. 20—Henry Owensby, 24-year-old Negro convict who was shot when he attempted to escape from a detective, was to be questioned further in St. Francis Hospital today. Police said Owensby, who was wounded in the right thigh, confessed he snatched purses from at least 30 Columbus women. No charges have been filed against the former Mansfield reformatory inmate as yet, however.

corted across the street by a socially ambitious grey squirrel named Pete.

To get to the White House, Mr. Hull has only to cross West Executive Avenue, Park Policeman Ed Costello is there to stop the traffic, and hopping along behind Costello comes the squirrel. The last time Secretary Hull crossed the avenue, he noticed his beady-eyed escort, and said to Costello, "Who's your friend?"

"That's Pete," said the officer. Another day when Hull came out of the State Department at lunch time, he found Officer Costello and George Klenk, chauffeur to Sumner Welles, staging an act with Pete. The squirrel was jumping from the arms of one to the other, on call, fascinated, Hull watched for five minutes before he drove off to his hotel.

Klenk is worried about Pete's street-strolling habits. "That little beggar is going to get killed some day," he says.

RED JOBBOLDERS

Behind the desperate battle of the John L. Lewis left-wing bloc at the CIO convention are more tangible prizes than mere ideology. The "Kommies" are fighting to retain lush and cushy jobs.

Under the present CIO set-up, the president (Lewis) fills all administrative and organizing posts. Actually, the Executive Board is supposed to pass on appointments, but it is so cumbersome that its approval is short-circuited. Lewis even selected the place and date of the CIO convention, notifying the board of his decision after he made it.

Thus the appointing power gives the CIO president a chance to build up a potent personal machine of office-holders—which Lewis has used to the limit.

Some of these key subordinates are militant left-wingers. Chief among them are Lee Pressman, general counsel, and first to congratulate Lewis after his broadcast for Willkie; and Len DeCaux, press chief, editor of various CIO publications, who donned a Willkie button after Lewis' bolt.

One of the first things on the agenda of the anti-Lewis group is to get rid of Pressman, DeCaux and other Lewis henchmen. They plan to do this by abolishing the present ineffectual Executive Board and setting up instead a six-man agency which will really function as a supervisory body.

The left-wingers have no illusions about their fate if the anti-win control. That's why they are battling so vehemently. It's the axe if they lose and some of them will find it mighty hard to land other sinecures.

CALICO TREATY

Amid the millions the Government will spend this month will be an item of $4,500 to meet the obligations of the oldest and most successful treaty signed by the United States.

This is the famous 'calico' treaty concluded on November 11, 1794, with the Six Nations of Iroquois Indians in New York State. Under this pact the Government pledged to distribute annually "several yards" of calico to each member of the Cayuga, Onondaga, Oneida, Tuscarora, Tonawanda and Allegany tribes in return for their "peace and friendship".

For nearly 150 years this treaty has been faithfully kept and this year 3,300 members of the six tribes will receive their "payment" at Salamanca, N. Y. Each Indian will have a choice of six yards of printed percale or twelve yards of unbleached sheeting.

Hard-working and proud, the Iroquois insist on the cloth instead of its equivalent in cash, and John Collier, able Indian Commissioner, has arranged that the terms of the ancient treaty be carried out with pomp and ceremony.

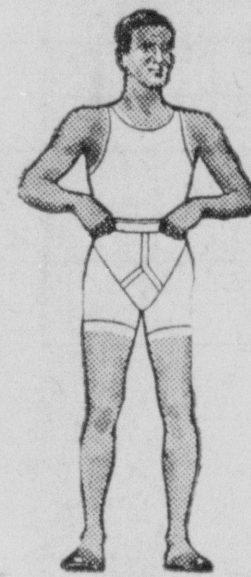

Really, sometimes you can't blame campaign orators for saying "dumb-ocracies."
